- White craft pom pom

Directions:

1. Cut out the hat template, and trace it onto the craft felt with a marker or fabric marking pen. Next, cut out the template on the felt.
2. Cut a piece of white ribbon approximately 5", and fold it into a loop. Sew 2-3 running stitches between the cut ends of the ribbon loop to the pointed end of the felt, making sure to keep the knotted end of the thread on the same side as the ribbon loop. Once the ribbon is secured with a few stitches, fold the template in half, leaving the ribbon ends on the outside. Continue a running stitch down the open side of the felt, leaving a small gap at the top, so that you can push the ribbon through. Knot at the end, and cut excess thread.
3. Push the ribbon loop through the small gap at the top, and then turn the felt inside out. (I used the needle to help pull the ribbon through the small gap)
4. Remove backing from snowflake stickers, and decorate both sides of the felt hat. Next add a few of the adhesive craft gems to both sides.
5. Take a handful of fiber fill and stretch and fluff it into a large ball shape. Push the fiber fill into the felt hat, and then hot glue all around the inside of the hat to attach the fiber fill. Hot glue a white pom pom to the tip of the hat. The last step is to hot glue a wooden bead as the nose, right below the rim of the hat. Your gnome is complete, and ready to be hung!
